

Spring Haiku Poems

to mark Sakura the cherry blossom season in Japan for 18th April 2016

Try these links for inspiration:

<http://www.haikupoemsandpoets.com>

<http://www.creative-writing-now.com/how-to-write-a-haiku.html>

for Question of the Week, write and illustrate:

a haiku poem about Spring

Traditionally, the lines in a haiku have

5 syllables

7 syllables

5 syllables

and that's all. The lines don't rhyme.

They are often about nature and a season.

Cherry Blossom Haiku

Michael Dom

Sakura breathing...
along an old stone footpath
children are laughing

Spring Haiku

Jan Allison

Sweet scented blossom
Confetti sent from heaven
With a gentle breeze

Spring is in the Air

Kaitlyn Guenther

Spring is in the air
Flowers are blooming sky high
Children are laughing

Lambs

Sally Harms

Spring lambs run and jump
Eat plentiful grass and grain
Becoming lamb chops

Daffodils

Yuran

Joyful daffodils
bringing hope to everyone
after winter ends.

Japanese families enjoy hanami - a picnic under the cherry blossom.